Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Differences between instant invention and prior art were discussed. Specifically, Applicant stated that Hatano teaches the use of two coatings, whereas instant claims require a 'single coating' and also stated that secondary reference of Watts teaches mainly colonic delivery. Examiner indicated that Applicants' would need to show how the additional coating of Hatano would be detrimental to the formulation, since Hatano do explicitly teach an effective HPMC capsule, for enteric delivery to the intestinal regions, as similarly desired by Applicants. Examiner suggested the following to Applicant: (1) To provide scientific evidence in the form of a Declaration and/or Affidavit, demonstrating that the additional coatings taught by the art would not be suitable or effective for delivery of drug in intestines and/or colon; (2) To show some unexpected/novel results attained through the 'single aqueous coating' instantly recited; and (3) Since the generic claim is a rather broad claim, Examiner made suggestions to narrow claim 1, by, for example, reciting a more specific composition, with specific ranges and ingredients, not suggested by the art. Applicant's response is currently due and will be carefully considered upon receipt. No agreement reached at this time.
